Foreword

Seasons . . . saisons . . . estación anyway you say it, they hold their individual impressions and memories. Flip the pages of the 1961 Messenger calendar and unfold the memories of fall—football games, the marching band, cool crisp autumn; winter—snow, the Christmas dance, a vacation; spring—the first bulbs pushing through the last of the winter snow; baseball, the Junior-Senior; and summer—a happy June vacation for sophs and juniors, for the seniors, graduation, wedding bells, college or just a beach trip. Whatever memories each season holds for you, we present our calendar of D.H.S. 1960-1961.

DEDICATION

In appreciation of his tireless efforts to boost school spirit, his friend-winning smile, and his cheerful daily greetings, we, the Senior Class dedicate the 1961 Messenger to

PRINCIPAL OF DURHAM HIGH SCHOOL

C. E. COOKE

In 1943 about the time the 1961 seniors were born, Mr. Cooke came to Durham High as assistant principal. In 1945 he became principal. While principal at D.H.S., he has watched her grow from an enrollment of 800 to an enrollment of 1500. He has also seen her grow structurally. In 1950 a new gymnasium was built making room for the machine shop, carpentry, mechanical drawing, and distributive education classes. The science department was enlarged, and new laboratories were built. A new auditorium, one of the finest in the state, was built allowing the library to be moved from second floor front to across the hall, the audio-visual aid room and the conference room were enlarged, additional classrooms were built in the back upstairs hall, and the cafeteria was enlarged. In 1961 a new science building was begun.

Extra-curricular activities, especially athletics, have always played an important role at D.H.S. Mr. Cooke has always taken an active part in improving and increasing the athletic department. In his first years at D.H.S., he served as head football and basketball coach. Basketball teams won seven state championships while Mr. Cooke was principal. In 1950 the football team won the championship and went to Miami to play in the Kiwanis bowl which they won. In 1960 a new city-county stadium was built. Since his first year at D.H.S., Mr. Cooke has photographed all home football games to run later for team showing. In 1959 he served as vice-president of the North Carolina Athletic Association, and in 1960 he was elected president for 1960-1961. His interest has certainly not been limited to athletics. In 1959 he was given an Award of Honor by an international literary society, the Quill and Scroll. He has attended Columbia Scholastic Press Conventions, and was, in March 1961, presented by the CSPA a key of honor for his services to the publications of Durham High School.

Carefully guiding each student in his selection of courses and colleges, Mr. Cooke represented D.H.S. on the College Entrance Examination Board.

Not only has Mr. Cooke watched thousands of seniors graduate, but he was most proud to hand diplomas to his own son and daughter.

Mr. Cooke's thirty-eight years with the Durham City Schools have been most beneficial for the city system, and Durham High will always remember his eighteen years of service and dedication.

THE SENIOR CLASS OF 1961

We, the seniors, have reached the top of the high-school ladder. We look back with many memories upon the many steps we have taken during three years of climbing at D.H.S. . . .

Dick Fleming served us fellow-classmen well as he filled the job of President of our huge senior class. Our Vice-President, Michael Pittman, was always alert with "new" ideas. Annie Piekrell wrote a "mile a minute" as she recorded the business of senior-class meetings. Kitty Smith, our treasurer, persuaded the seniors to dig up money for the Student Council Budget Drive, and the senior class came out on top . . . we put the most dough in the treasury! Our worthy advisers, Mrs. Ridenhour and Mrs. Penny, were always ready and willing to help with any problems.

Football season began a year of big activities. Captains Dick Fleming and Steve Parker, helped D.H.S. "fight on for her fame." Bus trips, pep rallies, parades in convertibles, and soek hops added to the spirit of football season. Short skirts, pink ties, "Suzy-longlegs", displays built by the homerooms, and a beautiful queen, senior Kitty Smith, were the visions of Fall Festival.

We "superiors" distinguished ourselves on Senior Day. All senior girls came to school dressed in "Sunday best" and heels, while the boys looked neat in suits and ties.

Upperclassmen who were members of the famous D.H.S. band will remember their trip to New York when they played in the Macy's Christmas Parade. The Durham High choruses earned superior ratings for their fine work.

Basketball season for the year of '61, was a "winner". Seniors Ronnie Mock and Bill Brown captained their teammates to eighteen victories out of twenty games. The team easily won the ticket to the state tournament. Meanwhile, the cheerleaders (eight of them seniors) cheered the team on. Other athletic teams also put Durham High among the top in sports.

"They said it couldn't be done." But we seniors did it well. The senior play, "The Robe", proved that many upperclassmen had talent in the dramatic field. Those who worked on the play committees painted the scenes and planned the programs to help make the senior play a success.

Alert minds among the seniors made the National Honor Society an "expanding" group. Numerous fellow-classmen were finalists for the National Merit Exams and for various scholarships.

On College Day and Career Day discussing our problems with professors and experienced people in various occupations gave us the realization that we were soon to leave D.H.S., and go out into the world on our own.

The Junior-Senior, the measuring for caps and gowns, the ordering of calling cards and graduation invitations, the receiving of the Messenger and last issues of the Hi-Rocket . . . all these were soon to be memories.

Then came graduation . . . Class Night, Graduation Night, gray robes, long tassels, small white certificates tied with white bows, solemn seniors. And the grand finale—the Graduation Dance, where all seniors discussed the many steps they had climbed at D.H.S. For a moment, we looked fondly down the ladder, then turned our faces upward and began to climb.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

No longer "Sophs" but not yet "Superior Seniors," we, the Juniors, have paced the halls of D.H.S. leaving distinct footsteps here and there. There are many memories filling each one of these footsteps.

With that quiet smile and an often red face, Stan Coble successfully led our class. Giving him a hand were Nancy Dees, Vice-President; Martha Bobbitt, Secretary; and Beth Phillips, doing a good job of keeping track of the money.

Peddling our "Bomb Burlington" tags with lots of school spirit and support for our team, was our first way of really becoming known—who but a Junior would be begging you to "puleeze buy a tag!" Our Junior "uniform-wearers" of the teams certainly did fine with the boosting of our three red-and-white cheering gals.

"Noisy, crazy, sloppy, lazy loafers—" came pouring from the stage on the night of the Junior Talent Show. Headaches? Shouts? Falls? Fun? After a few minor tragedies, we presented "KIDS" with all the vigor of any Junior class. (Having the set fall the night before production was a tragedy, wasn't it?)

Not to be forgotten are the honors brought to our school by two of our outstanding Juniors. Stan Coble was elected Vice-President of the North Carolina Student Council Congress, and Jeanine Pickren was elected President of the state Library Club.

Along with spring came the much anticipated Junior-Senior Prom. We, Juniors, who could now attend this big event, proudly decorated the gym with excitement. This brought an end to our "in-between year" of being DHS'ers: one filled with wonderful memories and achievements which had taken us another step.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

“Not a Soph-more!!” everyone exclaimed. “Yes, one of them,” we replied reluctantly all through this past year at D.H.S. As we look over this first year, we remember some events that made us a part of D.H.S.

The sock hop that was given for us “Sophs” during Orientation Week; the election of our class officers—Jimmy Brame, our president; Russell Whitley, vice president; Porgy Jones, secretary; and Deanie Beard, treasurer; the first ball games when we cheered against the Seniors and Juniors, and the later ones when we joined efforts to send our teams to victory; the excitement of Homecoming, and having Dee Hobgood as our candidate for queen; the decoration of the floats, and the stork that won; the pride in our Sophomore football and basketball teams who made a great showing this year at D.H.S.; the participation in the Junior Talent Show; even the taunt “who you gonna go with to the Junior-Senior, Sophomore!”—All these memories made us feel a part of D.H.S. and made us look forward to the next two years with much anticipation.

STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS

OFFICERS

Row 1—Walton Ward. Row 2—Lucy Best, Bill Weatherspoon. Row 3—Andy Johnson.

Your Student Council has been working since August of 1960 to serve you, the student body, as efficiently as possible.

In this time we have done the following: Welcome teachers with homeroom decorations; Orientation of new students; Weekly radio programs; Presentation of informative as well as enjoyable assembly programs; sponsoring football and basketball sockhops; Sponsoring American Education Week and Parents Night; Revising and presenting a new school constitution; Helping to secure a Foreign Exchange Student. This year from our Student Council nine people represented D. H. S. at the N. C. Student Council Congress in Asheville. Four D. H. S. students attended the N. C. Student Council Workshop in Boone, N. C.

1. Things sure look different from here!
2. If you'd only hold your mouth like . . . . . perfect!
3. Yes sir, coach (chuckle). They're mighty interesting, aren't they?
4. 7:00 a.m. and ready to practice. Not bad for 3 hours of sleep last night.
5. Our home away from home. Anyway, the Metro-pole is near!
6. Isn't that Durham over to the right—in the distance?
7. Darned if I don't believe New York could use a streetsweeper! (Yes—I did notice that too!)
8. Now gentlemen. The U.N. is a peaceful organization.
9. Looks like Durham to me, to me, to me!
10. Don't look so happy. You'll be out in the street in a minute, too.

CHORALETTES

Do re mi fa sol la ti do . . . but Mr. Starnes, that's as high as we can get! . . . The music contest sure was fun, and we were really proud when we received a two rating . . . Hands in place, head erect, raise the curtain—and sing! . . . We worked hard all year, but one thing is for certain—our day never ended without a song.

CONCERT CHOIR

Practice, practice, and more practice . . . No, no, the altos are drowning out the melody . . . We had loads of fun at the District Music Contest held in the Durham High Auditorium . . . Remember our great score—a one! We've really worked hard this year, but it has been an experience none of us will forget soon.

MESSENGER

They stuck us down in the basement so the noise wouldn't reach the first floor . . . Passing the Messenger room, during a typical sixth period, you might hear: "Each one of you knows that this Messenger goes out February 28" . . . silence . . . "I bid three spades" . . . the rattle of a typewriter . . . "Ouch, who's spitting orange seeds?!" . . . "If I hear 'It's better to have loved and lost . . . ' one more time, I'll scream!" . . . Miss Brown pushes aside the formaldehyde and makes room for the proofs . . . Sula, chalk in hand, stands at the board, begging for our ideas . . . Diane seconds her . . . Betty yells from the back of the room that we're in the hole on ads . . . Trina swings her foot to the typewriter while Pat, Sally, and Anne L. await their turn . . . busy with layouts are Betsy, Tali, Danelle, and Linda W . . . Joan and Susanne and Susan yell that club write-ups are due the next day . . . Dee and her shadow Bill (also, by the way, our only male) popping flashbulbs . . . Hoyle and Becky drop in occasionally from Mr. Stars's room where they've been working on the cover of our Messenger . . . Anne C., Alice B., and Jennie look up from the conglomeration of pictures they've been sorting . . . Bobby and Patsy groan over the senior quotations . . . Alice H., Linda R., and Dennie fit ads on pages . . . Peering over their shoulders, learning the ropes so they can take over in their senior year are our sophs Linda B., Kylie, and Margaret . . . This was February 28 . . . March 1, the day after the Messenger went to press, was a different story.

THE MESSENGER

The date was announced, posted, and set,
With hopes by the Messenger it would be met.
We started in the summer and worked through the fall,

Begging acquaintances, relatives and all!
We left each store with a laugh or a sigh,
"Please buy an ad!" became our battle cry,
Asking and begging for designs for each ad.
Left Betty Baker tired and sad.
She worked each day with all the strength she could muster,

Trying to give each that special luster.
Betty worked with pride for this was her job.
If even to do it she must arouse our mob.
Although finished and completed, the ads at last;
Still left more work to do and very fast.

The season of literary was officially begun,
With quotes, stories, and typing all to be done.
Sally said aye when Suzanne said no,
Ideas we search for, far and low.
Joan as literary editor truly was great,
With each coming day she took part in our debate.
One wanted a theme based on the four seasons,
While other said no for their various reasons,
All to avail, seasons won out
With winners giving their acclaim by a loud shout!
With a new theme the cover was started.
And our group of ad sellers soon were parted.
One went on errands throughout the school,
While others worked on assigned jobs as a rule.
With much work to do there was little time to play.
Our deadline was nearer with each coming day.

LITERARY STAFF

Row 1—Susanne Boone, Joan White. Row 2
—Jennie Spencer, Deneise Thompson, Margaret Waller, Patsy, McClintock.

Worked straight on from Spring to Fall,
Rushing to an' tro with hands o'er her bead,
Onward the guiding light she led.
With suggestions and ideas which our leaders freely did give,
The chorus of the club rings out, "Long may they live!"

The new relaxed composure of the Messenger crew
Told keen observers no work was due,
After a year of hard work and little play,
The Messenger strived to be ready on the deadline day.

The deadline, it came greeting work finished and done.

Soon the Messenger was to become the center of fun.
Some members went to New York on a gay
joy ride

Returning to tell of their adventures with pride.
No matter how much time we took to have fun,
We shirked not a duty under the rising sun.
Our work on the Messenger found us with bonds of pride,

Each one of us working, side by side.
Our Messenger we love and proudly acclaim
As a book we feel it's worthy of great fame!

ART STAFF

Tali Connant, Hoyle Mattox, Becky Hobgood, Betsy Fletcher.

Typing up cards, signing notes,
Was not a job that won many votes,
Trina and Ann as typists were dependable and sure,
But for their sore fingers we found no cure.
Quotes were revised, found, and tried,
Reading their text were many with pride,
Becky and Hoyle designed a cover of black and white,
After working for days with all of their might.
With Betsy to inspire in the field of art,
Her great ideas surely won our heart.
Each saw our task at hand was ready-made,
So we set to work with the vigor of Honest Abe.
Correcting, cutting, planning, and doing,
Left gray hairs and nails in ruin.
Club writeups were hardest to do of them all,
Excuses were given by the short and the tall.
The work finally finished, completed, all done.
The tired workers got home to greet the rising sun.
Through the trouble and strife we met each day
Miss Brown led us on in her own quiet way.
For her knowledge and patience were greatly admired
We hastened to do all she desired.
Sula Parks, the prided editor-in-chief,
Settled many a squabble and many a beef.
Sula knew when and where to lend a hand,
In the Messenger room, she was most in demand.
Diane Patterson, associate editor, ideas and all,
